Math - Mrs. Tapley

Welcome back to school! Please read the attached letter that details some of the positive messages I will be sharing with your children about math. We will be working on expectations and routines this week, along with open-ended math problems. Your child will have a brief homework assignment Tuesday through Thursday. If you have any questions, please contact me at

Science/Social Studies - Mrs. Bebell

7th and 8th grade students will alternate between science and social studies topics throughout the year. To start with, they will be designing inventions and putting the scientific method to the test. Please see the syllabus that is being sent home later this week for an outline of what topics we will be exploring this year. Feel free to contact me at abebell@brooklinschool.org.

English Language Arts - Mrs. Baird

I am so excited to start this year! I am teaching English Language Arts, which involves reading and writing, to all students grades 3-8. I am so excited to be teaching this subject, as reading and writing are some of my passions in life! I am excited to instill this love into the students of Brooklin School! We will be starting this year with reading the book, Breakthrough! How Three People Saved "Blue Babies" and Changed Medicine Forever. We will be diving into the book beginning next week. This week, we will be doing projects relating to our summer reading. I can be contacted at jbaird@brooklinschool.org if you have any questions!

Cell phones and personal electronics

Students will not be allowed to carry their phones or use them in class. If they don't need them for before or after school activities, it's probably best to just leave them at home. Personal devices can be kept in lockers or in a classroom storage/charging station that is monitored by Mrs. Tapley.
